Self introduction

I graduated in electrical engineering and worked in engineer position for 3 years. I currently need to change my career to developer and I learn about programming by online learning. I am interested in applying for front end developer and I will do my best. I developed my website by react, manage state with react hook and redux

Although I have less experience in web developer, but I have an experience in other developing engineering programs. I have a good problem-solving skill in term of programming, which enables me to develop and improve website.
